Advanced Analytical Expands Presence with Opening of New Office in San Francisco

Offers wide range of practices to corporate and law firm clients on the West Coast

San Francisco -- Advanced Analytical Consulting Group, Inc. (AACG), an economic, statistical and computing consulting firm based in Boston, today announced an expansion with the opening of a new office in San Francisco. AACG's new location offers clients its full range of litigation and business consulting services, including litigation and disputes, regulation compliance monitoring, strategy and operations, pricing analysis and analytical tool development.

"We are excited to continue our company's rapid growth with the opening of our San Francisco office," says Dr. Poorti Marino, a Principal at AACG in San Francisco. "Our new office expands our capabilities and reach to more easily serve clients throughout the United States, including current clients Bingham McCutchen LLP and Morrison & Foerster LLP."

"AACG brings personnel with decades of in-depth experience and expertise in economics, statistics, strategy and operations, as well as advanced analytical technology to the service of our clients. We continue to develop new products, such as Scientific Fraud Detection and Pricing and Profitability Optimization, to address critical challenges our clients face as our economy moves from the Information Age to the Analysis Age," says AACG founder Dr. Daniel Levy.

AACG recently launched the Scientific Fraud Detection offering to help investment management companies address an increasingly demanding regulatory environment.

AACG will soon launch the Pricing and Profitability Optimization offering to help businesses preserve and improve profit margins, demystify customer behavior and optimize pricing.

AACG's new office is located at 100 California Street, Suite 1125, San Francisco, CA 94111-4572, 415-433-2224.
